Cleveland has gone farther than any other American city in providing farm colonies to which persons arrested for intoxication and other minor offenses can be committed. This is only one evidence of the great movement to make our courts remedial rather than punitive. The City s Vacant Lots The story of Bringing Nature Back to Our Great Cities is told in the November Technical World Magazine, by Allan Sutherland, and is illustrated mainly by the work of the Vacant Lots Association, of Philadelphia. This is the plan: The Superintendent of the Association borrows tracts of land from their owners with the understanding that they are to be surrendered on demand. The land is distributed to would-be gardeners in patches of from one-eighth to one-fourth of an acre, together with a good assortment of vegetable seeds. The cultivation of the gardens, the use of the land in other ways and the conduct of the gardeners are under strict supervision by the superintendent, who gives lessons in plant life and the fighting of weeds and insects. At the end of the season each gardener must turn in a renort on the crops raised. Invalids, children, the aged and the poor find health and comfort for their families in this miniature farming. One old colored man made $250 on his half-acre last season. The Association finds there is a return of about $$ on every dollar invested. AN ARCADE SURROUNDING BUILDING OPERATIONS IN A...
