Not illustrated. 1892 Excerpt: . . . in this way: If he had a thousand trees it would cost him 85 to have them thinned, with labor at 1 a day, or 170 at 2 per day. He has but few culls among his apples, and the selected crop will easily bring him ten cents per bushel more than the fruit from trees which were not thinned out, which, at six bushels to the tree, would increase his sale by 600. Again, he claims still another greater advantage. It is not the growth of the fruit that exhausts the tree so much as the formation of the seed, and reducing the number of seeds grown by picking off one-half or two-thirds of the fruit that sets, he relieves the tree so that it can form fruit buds in the fall for the next years crop. In ten years he has not had a...
