When falls the soldier brave Dead at the feet of wrong, The poet sings - and guards his grave With Sentinels of Song. Go Songs, - he gives command - Keep faithful watch and true: The living and dead of the Conquered Land Have now no guards save you. And ballads! Mark ye well. Thrice holy is your trust; Go out to the fields where warriors fell. And sentinel their dust. The recent Southern tour of the old man. Daniel Emmett, the author and composer of Dixie, and his warm reception, shows how fixed in the hearts of its people is the simple old tune. As the seasons roll by, and the memories of the fierce struggle for four years to repel an invading force fade out from the minds of the old and the recital of battles and sieges are interesting to the young only as matters of history, this tune - which inspired the Rebel yell at Manassas - is as fresh to-day as it was on that memorable Sabbath morning thirty-four years ago. Every Southerner feels the pulse-beat quicken and the heart thrill with emotion whenever and wherever he hears the air. And so will it be until the end of time. It is but an illustration of the powerful influence upon a people of a song born of sentiment. Fletcher of Saltoun, a wise man himself, said that he knew a very wise man who believed that if a man were permitted to make all the ballads he need not care who should make the...
